

We are All Connected

The Indigenous musician, the song and the community are one. Every aspect of life interacts with and affects the others. The beat of a drum, the birth of a child, the people of our villages, the fish, the birds, the other animals, the plants and the songs of our elders are one spirit – no matter how it might look to an outsider.

Physics has travelled the same waters to the same knowledge: the universe including its laws, waves, particles, energy and matter all interact and depend on one another – no matter how it might look to a naïve realist.

In short, nothing can exist alone.

Excerpt from “Secrets of Sound”, Native Drums Website

Cle-alls (Dr. John Medicine Horse Kelly) & Andrew Tracy